

It is my responsibility as a Flight Attendant to provide safety as well as customer service. The safety issue on the use of cell phones should also include the possibility of video filming which is not allowed at this time on aircrafts in flight. The customer service aspect should include the fact that many times a passenger is annoyed by other passengers carrying on a conversation above normal voices let alone having to listen to someone become agitated while speaking on the phone as sometimes does occur. Please take note that a commercial aircraft has more than just "me" on board.
